Whether you're a seasoned wine enthusiast or just starting to explore the world of wine, this guide will help you discover the best that the Pacific Northwest has to offer.

Washington

Washington is the second-largest wine-producing state in the United States, and it's home to some of the country's most acclaimed wineries. The state's wine industry is centered around the Columbia Valley, which is known for its warm, dry climate and diverse soils.

Some of the most popular grape varieties grown in Washington include Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Chardonnay, and Riesling. The state is also home to a growing number of wineries that are producing excellent Pinot Noir, Syrah, and other varietals.

If you're planning a trip to Washington wine country, be sure to visit some of the following wineries:

* Chateau Ste. Michelle: One of the oldest and most respected wineries in Washington, Chateau Ste. Michelle is known for its award-winning wines and its beautiful estate. * Columbia Crest: A large-scale winery that produces a wide range of wines, from affordable everyday wines to high-end collector's items. * Quilceda Creek: A boutique winery that produces some of the most sought-after Cabernet Sauvignons in the world. * Walla Walla Vintners: A cooperative of small wineries that produces a variety of wines, including Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Chardonnay.

Oregon

Oregon is the fourth-largest wine-producing state in the United States, and it's home to a growing number of acclaimed wineries. The state's wine industry is centered around the Willamette Valley, which is known for its cool, wet climate and diverse soils.

Some of the most popular grape varieties grown in Oregon include Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, Pinot Gris, and Riesling. The state is also home to a growing number of wineries that are producing excellent Sauvignon Blanc, Cabernet Sauvignon, and other varietals.

If you're planning a trip to Oregon wine country, be sure to visit some of the following wineries:

* Domaine Serene: A world-renowned winery that produces some of the most elegant and age-worthy Pinot Noirs in the world. * WillaKenzie Estate: A boutique winery that produces a variety of Pinot Noirs, Chardonnays, and other varietals. * Sokol Blosser: A family-owned winery that produces a variety of wines, including Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, and Riesling. * Argyle Winery: A pioneer in the Oregon wine industry, Argyle Winery is known for its world-class sparkling wines and Pinot Noirs.

The Pacific Northwest Wine Trail

The Pacific Northwest Wine Trail is a self-guided driving tour that takes you through some of the most scenic and celebrated wine regions in the United States. The trail follows the Columbia River from Washington to Oregon, and it passes through some of the most acclaimed wineries in both states.

If you're planning a trip along the Pacific Northwest Wine Trail, be sure to allow plenty of time to stop and visit the wineries. You'll also want to make sure to book your accommodations in advance, as the trail is a popular destination for wine lovers.
